

SOCIETY CHATTER AND HOME TALK

THE Princess Kawanakoa received a royal welcome from her legion of friends, when the Oceanic liner, Sierra, arrived from San Francisco, Friday morning. These friends were not only on the dock with tributes of leis and flowers to greet her, but a number—as soon as the steamer was sighted—chartered a launch to extend greetings. A Hawaiian Quintette Club was with them, and as a welcome they sang a number of the Princess' favorite songs which were gracefully acknowledged by her from the deck of the steamer. On arriving at the wharf she received an ovation. The Princess Kawanakoa is not only a great social favorite in Honolulu, but is a leader in social affairs where ever she resides. During her sojourn in New York last winter, she was the recipient of much social attention. It is regretted that this accomplished and beautiful woman will remain in the islands but for a few months, having planned to spend the fall in New York City and from there sail for Europe. A number of social affairs have been planned in her honor and her Honolulu friends will vie with each other to entertain her.

Dinner Dance at Pacific Club.

The gala event on Thursday night was the dinner dance given at the Pacific Club, which is conceded to be one of the exclusive clubs in town. The 400 of Honolulu were well represented. The committee for entertainment superintended every detail to promote the comfort and pleasure of the guests. Yellow and green was chosen as the color scheme, and the decorations were unusually attractive. Yellow cornucopias and smilax were used in great profusion and produced gratifying results. Preceding the dancing there were a round of dinners; among the most elaborate of the affairs was the one given by Mr. H. W. Walker; among his guests were Admiral and Mrs. Corwin P. Rees, Major and Mrs. Samuel Dunning, Mrs. Renjes, Miss Elan Renjes, the Misses Walker (2), Miss Annie Graham, Mr. Bruce Cartwright and Mr. Lansing. Major George Potter entertained a party of six. Mr. and

Mrs. Jack Dowsett's dinner guests included twelve; they were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kiehn, Mr. and Mrs. Lanz, Miss Violet Makee and Mr. Harry Whitney. Dr. and Mrs. Cooper entertained in honor of Mrs. Gray and Miss Eva Gray of Los Angeles. Those in the dinner party were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Mrs. Gray, Miss Gray, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Stockman. Major Haines entertained a party of three. Mr. George Isenborg's guests included Mrs. E. W. Jordan, Miss Margaret and Miss Eleanor Waterhouse. Ex-Governor Cleg-horn's dinner party was a stag affair; among the Governor's guests were Colonel A. G. Hawes, Hon. Samuel Damon and Mr. F. A. Schaefer. Mr. L. M. Vedeen presided as host at an enjoyable dinner; the guests in this party were Dr. and Mrs. George Herbert, Dr. and Mrs. Joanstone of Fort Shafter, their house guest, Miss Allan and Lieutenant Chilton of Fort Shafter. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham. Dr. and Mrs. Philip Frear were the guests of honor at the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Morse. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Irving Spalding gave a dinner complimentary to their daughter, Mrs. M. M. Garrett; Captain and Mrs. Chapman and Lieutenant and Mrs. George Cleveland Bowen were among their guests. Mrs. Byron K. Baird of Hilo, who is visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Captain and Mrs. Wilbur of Fort Ruger, was the motif for Dr. and Mrs. Murray's dinner; among the other guests were Mr. Frank Thompson and Mr. William Roth. Mr. Cecil Brown entertained a party of six; he was ably assisted in entertaining his guests by his daughter, Miss Irene Dickson. The Gustav Schaefer's entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Damon. Among Mr. and Mrs. James Cockburn's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alan Bottomley and Miss Helen Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. George Rodiek also entertained. Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Weight's dinner was quite elaborate and extremely enjoyable. Captain and Mrs. Low entertained in their usual hospitable manner, giving much pleasure to their guests. Mr. W. Walters entertained a party of eight. A number of others dinners were given. On this occasion formal invitations were not issued, the members of the club being privileged to invite guests to dinner and participate in the dancing afterwards. Numerous tables were set on the veranda, this arrangement proving delightful and cool. All the tables were decorated in yellow cornucopias and smilax, and the name cards were all done in yellow. The salads, ices and hollons also carried out this color scheme. After dinner a number of guests adjourned to the card rooms, and indulged in bridge, but the younger set took possession of the dancing floor and indulged in this pleasing pastime until a late hour. Among the striking gowns worn on this occasion were those of Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, which was a real lace affair, embroidered in lavender floss; a conventional design was the motif of the elaborate handwork on the gown. Mrs. George Cleveland Bowen was a picture in pale blue net, with a overdress of silver. Mrs. George Herbert wore a black spangled dress. Mrs. Alan Bottomley looked extremely well in a hand-embroidered white. Ingerie, Mrs. M. M. Garrett was a picture in a cream silk crepe embellished with pink roses and trimmed with real lace. Mrs. Corwin P. Rees wore her favorite color, lavender, and looked unusually handsome. Mrs. Chapman, wife of Captain Chapman of Fort Shafter, wore a chiffon over satin, embroidered in lavender. Mrs. Harvey Murray's gown was of blue satin, trimmed in silver. Mrs. Frank Richardson's gown of white silk was extremely becoming; the tunic was trimmed in bands of Alice blue. Mrs. Alexander Campbell wore a black spangled lace over white satin. Mrs. Gray of Los Angeles wore a stunning frock of rose meteor crepe trimmed in real lace, with touches of gold. Her daughter, Miss Eva Gray, was a picture in arctic satin; the draped skirt suited Miss Gray's tall, willowy figure. Miss Gray is one of the most attractive young girls that has visited our island for some time, wherever she appears she is the recipient for much social attention. Mrs. Jack Dowsett was clad in white satin. Miss Ada Rhodes wore an imported gown of light blue silk. Mrs. E. I. Spalding's gown of a light shade of amber satin, embroidered in gold was much admired. Mrs. Byron Baird looked charming in white lace over white satin. Mrs. Johnson, wife of Dr. Johnson of Fort Shafter wore a required gown of black. Miss Helen Kimball was clad in white silk. Miss Hattie Lucas looked girlish and pretty in pink satin embroidered in silver. Mrs. Percy Benson wore an all over hand embroidered frock. Mrs. Ivers wore an old rose silk draped over satin in a deeper shade. Mrs. Samuel Dunning was handsome in black. Mrs. James Cockburn wore white lace, a corsage of red roses was worn with this toilette, red roses were also worn in the hair. Mrs. Harold Dillingham looked stunning in a New York creation. Miss Genevieve Langton wore pale blue silk. Mrs. Frederick Damon looked handsome in a blue moire, draped over blue satin in the same shade. Mrs. Gustav Schaefer wore one of the most beautiful gowns it was of cream chiffon, made over coral satin—this frock was a pattern gown and was so beautiful that it would take an artist to describe it. The draped tunic was exceedingly becoming, the tunic was caught here and there with roses. Among those present were: Admiral and Mrs. Rees, Judge and Mrs. Sidney Bailou, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Spalding, Mr. and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dowsett, Mr. and Mrs. Focke Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. George Rodiek, Mrs. Byron K. Swimming Party.

Miss Edith Mist entertained at a swimming party at the T. Clive Davies home at Waikiki, Friday afternoon. About twenty young girls were invited, most of them being close friends of the guest of honor, Miss Meier. The guests and their hostess went in swimming about 2:30 p. m.. The temperature of the water was conducive to swimming, and the dip in the briny deep was much enjoyed by the coterie of young people. Shortly before 5 o'clock delicious refreshments were served under the picturesque hau tree, on the beach. Among those present were Miss Mild, Miss Meier, Miss Kopke, Miss Esther Kopke, Miss Gram, Miss Spalding, Miss Blanche Epper, Miss Wickstrom, Miss Dorothy Wood, Miss Beatrice Holsworth, Miss Edinger, Miss Marjorie Freeth, Miss Harriet Young and others.

Miss Thelma Murphy was the hostess at a most charmingly arranged Stanford dinner given in honor of Miss Louise McCarthy of Honolulu and Miss Irene Young of Salt Lake City. The table decorations were in red and white, the Stanford colors. The dining-room was festooned in college pennants and malle. Puzzle games made the hours pass only too quickly. The young girls who enjoyed this Stanford dinner were Miss Louise McCarthy, Miss Irene Young, Miss Esther White, Miss Ruth McChesney, Miss Pearl McCarthy, Miss Beatrice Waite, Miss Pauline Schaefer and Miss Jessie Kennedy.

Miss Gras' Luncheon.

Miss Daisy Gras entertained in, formally at luncheon Friday at the British Consulate. Covers were laid for eight. The table was ornamented with La France roses. Among those present were Miss Daisy Gras, Miss Beatrice Holsworth, Miss Ethel Spalding, Miss Katherine Stephens, Miss Meier, Miss Irma Ballentyne, Miss Dorothy Wood and Miss Marie Ballentyne.
